RCI Seeks Candidate For Senior Director of Technical Services

RALEIGH, NC, JANUARY 19, 2012: The Board of Directors of RCI, Inc. is announcing the establishment of a new staff position for Senior Director of Technical Services.

The Association is seeking a highly qualified professional who will administer RCI technical services and programs designed to assist members in remaining current with building code and standards issues. The Senior Director of Technical Services will also serve as the Technical Editor of Interface, RCI's monthly technical journal. Duties will include working with the Executive Editor to develop monthly themes and to identify and contact subject matter experts to write articles and review them upon submission.

The successful candidate must be a licensed professional engineer or registered architect with three or more years' experience working with the building regulatory community or equivalent experience.

RCI President Rick Cook stated that "the Senior Director of Technical Services is an important addition to RCI and will be valuable in assisting us to meet the needs of our membership. Remaining current on the events and activities in the regulatory environment is key to the continued success of RCI."

RCI, Incorporated, established in 1983, is an international nonprofit association of professionals who specialize in roofing, waterproofing, and exterior wall specification and design. The organization continues to expand with current membership at more than 2,600 and includes an international constituency throughout the United States and Canada.
