

RCI, Inc. is an international nonprofit association of professionals who specialize in roofing, waterproofing, and exterior wall specification and design. From sprayed polyurethane foam to cedar shakes, from parking garages to air barriers, RCI has a member expert for every type of roof, exterior wall, or waterproofing issue in the world today.

Since 1983, RCI's Professional members have offered unbiased design, repair planning, quality observance, legal testimony, and general roofing and other building envelope management services. RCI's Professional members adhere to a strict code of ethics that offers unprejudiced service without affiliation with any product or manufacturer. Current membership numbers approximately 2,500, including Professional, Industry, and Facility Manager members. RCI, Inc. boasts an international constituency residing across the United States, Canada, Mexico, South America, Australia, the West Indies, the Middle East, Europe, and Asia.

The association presents educational programs designed to demystify and explain the practical application of roofing and waterproofing technology and sound building envelope theory. A monthly journal (Interface), a monthly newsletter (RCIitems), and international, regional, and chapter-level events provide interactive forums for information exchange and networking. The Registered Roof Consultant (RRC®), Registered Waterproofing Consultant (RWC®), and Registered Roof Observer (RRO®) programs distinguish professionals with proven standards of education, experience, and ethics. The RCI Foundation, a tax-exempt 501(c)(3) branch, organizationally independent of RCI, Inc., supports research and educational efforts of the industry.

The RCI, Inc. mission is realized by a professional staff headquartered in Raleigh, North Carolina, and through the efforts of a volunteer board of directors, numerous committees, and its individual members across the globe.

We invite you to use this directory and to discover more about RCI and the professional path of its members.
